THE MASTER OF APPLEBY

By FRANCIS LYNDE

Vividly Illustrated by T. DE THULSTRUP

"It may be said with literal truth of 'The Master of Appleby,' that it does not contain a page without some incident, some adventure, and yet the author does not repeat once. Mr. Lynde's inventiveness is remarkably rich." —New York Mail and Express.

"'The Master of Appleby,' does for the South what 'Alice of Old Vincennes,' does for the West."

—The Philadelphia North American.

"To the reader who wants plenty of action, 'The Master of Appleby' is to be recommended—no reader will feel dull while reading its pages."

—New York Times.

"'The Master of Appleby' is a vigorous narrative. This novel is a thing apart and a joy for local color."

—New York Sun.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO., PUBLISHERS

THE MOST POPULAR BOOK IN AMERICA

"Hearts Courageous," by Hallie Erminie Rives, whose latest portrait is printed above, has led booksellers' lists as the best-selling novel during a longer continuous period than has any other novel published during the past year.

Its sale, already enormous, is still growing rapidly, and it promises to take its place as one of the really good books of the past decade. It holds a love story which has been called "as delicious as the great passion itself," and its tense dramatic plot centers in the greatest event in our history—the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Its great central figure is Patrick Henry. The mystery of its plot enthralls to the last page, and its combination of love and war is ideal. It is illustrated by engravings on wood from original paintings by A. B. Wenzell. Price, $1.50. The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Publishers, Indianapolis, U. S. A.

SELLING EVERYWHERE

NOW IN ITS THIRD LARGE EDITION

THE CONQUEST

By EVA EMERY DYE

According to a careful résumé in the Chicago Record Herald the CONQUEST is "destined to be one of the most popular books of the new year." It is already among the best selling books in five large cities, and is increasing steadily all the time.

With Frontispiece, $1.50.

IN ITS SIXTH EDITION

THE THRALL OF LEIF THE LUCKY

By OTTILIE A. LILJENCRA NTZ

Universally conceded to be the most strikingly illustrated and ornamented novel published in 1902, and also declared by the Brooklyn Eagle to be "one of the best constructed historical romances that has appeared in America in years." It is quite unlike anything else in fiction, and will always have a steady sale.

Illustrated in color by the Kinneys, $1.50.

Now Ready

"A story of unusual power which opens in an obscure curio-shop in London, where Anna Solney, the sixteen-year-old daughter of an exile, is chafing bitterly against her enforced solitude and inactivity. When unexpectedly the opportunity so madly craved is offered her—the chance to take an active place in the busy world—she finds that the conditions which accompany its acceptance are only a degree less cruel than those involved in its rejection. Eight years later she returns, and to the girl standing in the shadows it seemed that the circle of life was complete. From the neutral tints she had passed through every graduated shade that existence can possess, revolving slowly past the faint light tones of hope and expectation to the vivid colours of actual fulfilment, then from the vivid colours steadily and inevitably forward, to be confronted once again by grayness and shadow. The shadows pass, however, and the constancy of her lover eventually brings to Anna the realization of a rarely perfect love."

NOTES IN SEASON.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just brought out "The Circle," the new story by Katherine Cecil Thurston, which was announced for March 15. The story is a strong one and will no doubt attract considerable attention both on account of its plot and its literary style. The book contains six illustrations drawn by Reginald B. Birch.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY have in their People's Library a paper covered edition of the late Edna Lyall's latest and best stories, "In Spite of All: a Romance of Cavalier and Puritan During the Civil War." It might be well for the trade to bear this in mind in view of the renewed interest taken in this author's works.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have purchased all rights in "A Furnace of Earth," by Hallie Erminie Rives, whose "Hearts Courageous" is enjoying an extraordinary success. They have tried to present Christy's illustrations of Frederic S. Isham's new novel, "Under the Rose," in their original colors. The reproduction is by a special six color process, used, we understand, for the first time in books of fiction, and seems to have successfully retained the soft tints of the color crayons that the artist used in his originals.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just ready Justus Miles Forman's new story, "Journeys End," an ingenious and delightful romance of to-day, raising the question of human nature as to whether the real man is the man as he is born or as he makes himself. Those who have read the book claim that "not since 'The Lady or the Tiger?' has a tale been published so provocative of speculation and conjecture." The publishers were obliged to print two large editions before publication. They have also ready "The Woman Who Toils," by Mrs. John Van Vorst and Marie Van Vorst, who set out to discover by actual experience the conditions of American working girls in Pittsburg, New York, Chicago, Lynn, and in one of the Southern cotton mills; "The Life of James Madison," by Gaillard Hunt, the first volume in the Biographical History of the United States; "Principles of Home Decoration," a helpful book to decorators, by Candace Wheeler; also "Hand in Hand," a volume of verse, by Rudyard Kipling's mother and sister.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish at once an important work, entitled "The Principles of Money," by J. Lawrence Laughlin, Professor of Political Economy in the University of Chicago. This is the first of a monumental series of books planned by the author, perhaps the first American authority in this branch of economics, on the general subject of money. As its title implies, Professor Laughlin in this volume clears the field for discussion of practical details, such as metallic money and its history in the United States, paper money here and in foreign countries, and banking, by establishing the theory underlying them. His aim has been to make "a separate and orderly exposition of the principles of money quite independently of their countless historical applications," to quote his preface, and the book is an elaborately organized treatment of these principles, and constitutes an original and novel contribution to the science of political economy. There are many new points of view which are bound to create discussion and likely to modify materially current economic doctrine. They have just imported a thin paper edition of "The Diary of Samuel Pepys," in large clear type, but on paper so thin that the volume is but a trifle over three-quarters of an inch in thickness.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (2mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Adams, Cyrus C. Elementary commercial geography. N. Y., Appleton, 1902. 12°, cl., *$1.10 net.

Adamson, W.; D.D. The life of Joseph Parker, pastor of City Temple, London. N. Y. and Chic., Revell, [1903.] 16+387 p. il. por. O. cl., **$1.75 net.

This biography is not the product of a few months' hasty work. The author gives us the fruit of many years of preparation, in a careful, mature and authoritative work. In writing the life of Joseph Parker, Dr. Adamson has lifted the veil from much more than a series of facts and deeds. Long and intimate personal intercourse and friendship has qualified him in a peculiar degree to put in the forefront the forces in Dr. Parker's unique character, wherein lay the secret of his influence, power and success. The elements of romance and humor, together with anecdote and illustration which give a biography a vivid human interest, are skillfully interwoven with the narrative. While fully accomplishing his primary object, Dr. Adamson has made his book illuminating and informing on the religious history of England during the period he covers.

Anderson, Nephi. The castle builder: [a story.] Salt Lake City, Utah, Improvement Era, 1902. c. 8+180 p. D. pap., 50 c.

Bible. New Testament. The reference passage Bible; arranged in topics in consecutive order with the reference passages given in full text on the same page, with instructions, maps and indices; comp. by I. N. Johns. Sunbury, Pa., Alpha Publishing Co., 1903. c. 2 v., 626; 795 p. maps, 12°, various bindings, per v., $2.50-$5.

Bigelow, J. The mystery of sleep. 2d ed., rewritten and enl. N. Y., Harper, 1903. [F.] c. '96, 1903. 14+216 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The author's first edition of 1896 has been so thoroughly rewritten and so greatly expanded, as practically to make it a new book. Mr. Bigelow's argument is that sleep is not merely a restoration of wasted physical energies, but a period in which, and the agency through which, man's nobler self is made receptive for the flow of divine life into the spirit.

Bodington, Rev. C. Books of devotion. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1903. 18+319 p. D. (Oxford library of practical theology; ed. by W. C. E. Newbolt and Rev. Darwell Stone.) cl., *$1.40 net.

An account of devotional books, from their first use, down to the end of the nineteenth century.

Bright, W.; D.D. The age of the Fathers: being chapters in the history of the church during the fourth and fifth centuries. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1903. 2 v., 8+542; 4+597 p. O. cl., *$10 net.

"The ground covered in these volumes is almost exactly the same as that traversed by Dr. Bright in his earliest work 'The history of the church from A.D. 313 to A.D. 451.' But the treatment is very different; that book was written for students, and it was the work of an annalist aiming at completeness and verifying each statement by reference to the authority for it; this is intended to be more popular; the interest of the reader is not distracted by notes, the less important details are omitted, and attention is concentrated on the lives of the great fathers and on the great doctrinal controversies."—Preface.

- Browning, Rob. Rabbi Ben Ezra; with supplementary illustrative quotations and an introd. by W: Adams Slade. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., 1902. c. 4+50 p. 12°, cl., **50 c. net.
- Bullen, Frank T. A whaleman's wife. N. Y., Appleton, 1903. [Ja.] c. 1902, 1903. 7+372 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.
The South Sea whaling fishery of New England is the theme of Mr. Bullen's novel. New pictures of that industry are presented. A love story beginning in Vermont is the thread on which are hung many stirring incidents. A rustic Yankee from the Green Mountain state is an interesting central figure.
- Burt, E: Willard. Camp fires in the wilderness; valuable information for campers and sportsmen, with an account of travels and adventures in the wilds of Maine, New Brunswick and Canada. Bost., National Sportsman Press, [1902.] c. 164 p. il. D. cl., $1.
- Butler, Rev. C. E. Old Testament word studies: an attempt to make clear to the reader of the English Bible the exact meaning of one hundred and sixty-five Hebrew words; arranged in groups of synonyms; ed., with introd., by J. T. L. Maggs. N. Y., Abbey Press, [1902.] c. 266 p. D. cl., $1.
This book was written on the supposition that the reader will know nothing of Hebrew. The author believes however that it will be of special value to those who have some little knowledge of that language.

Opens in the old United States Hotel of Saratoga in 1844. Here the heroine is introduced, and other characters who afterwards figure in the Mexican War from which scenes are given, embracing the march of Taylor's army from Corpus Christi to the battlements of Monterey. Among other notable scenes is that wondrous defense of the convent wall by The Spy Company, that curious aggregation of misanthropes, all of whom were indifferent to death on account of the misfortunes or infidelities of the women who had been dear to them.

In a framework of love, law, politics and gossip of a country town of northern Illinois, we have the story of a successful young western lawyer, who is as original in his love making as in his business methods. Tellfair is not very far from Chicago, and is a thriving, typical western town. With a good share of culture, it includes many odd specimens of unpolished human nature. The character sketching is admirable, and evidently from life. Morris Davenport the hero, is by no means a perfect type, but holds the reader's interest and liking. The two heroines are new studies in fiction.

That life is not a straight line, but a circle, and that fate or providence often brings us back to the starting point of our youth, is the author's text, illustrated in the life of a young Russian girl living in a London slum with an old bookworm of a father (an exile), the proprietor of a curio shop. Anna Solny is persuaded by a woman of fashion to desert her father and home to study for the stage. The girl has genius and in years becomes a great actress, acquires wealth and a social position. How and why her life turns back again to the little shop in Felt Street, there to find content and happiness in an honorable man's love, the story tells with much grace and sympathy.

Many errors of the first edition are corrected in this volume; it also includes a large amount of additional and interesting information relating to the history of Augusta County. Contains reminiscences illustrative of the vicissitudes of its pioneer settlers; biographical sketches of citizens locally prominent, and of those who have founded families in the southern and western states; a diary of the war, 1861-'5, and a chapter on reconstruction.

Weedon, G. Valley Forge orderly book of General George Weedon, of the Continental Army under command of General George Washington, in the campaign of 1777-8; describing the events of the battles of Brandywine, Warren Tavern, Germantown and Whitemarsh, and of the camps at Neshaminy, Wilmington, Pennypacker's Mills, Skippack, Whitemarsh and Valley Forge. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1902. c. 323 p. plans, 8° cl., **$6.50 special net.

Wesley, J. The heart of John Wesley's journal; with an introd. by Hugh Price Hughes, and an appreciation of the journal by Augustine Birrell; ed. by Percy Livingstone Parker. [Wesley bicentenary ed.] N. Y. and Chic., Revell, [1903.] 30+512 p. il. por. O. cl., **$1.50 net.

A condensation, into popular form, of John Wesley's journal hitherto published in four volumes; intended to mark the bicentenary celebration of the birthday of the founder of Methodism. There is no book that gives so exact and vivid a picture of eighteenth century England as this record Wesley kept of his daily experience.

West Virginia. Supreme ct. of appeals. Reports of cases, from Mar. 1, 1902, to June 7, 1902, by Romeo H. Freer, ex-off. rep. v. 51. Charleston, Charleston Daily Mail Pub. Co., 1902. c. 29+639+49 p. O. shp., $4.50.

Whitman, Sidney. Personal reminiscences of Prince Bismarck. N. Y., Appleton, 1903. [F.] c. 10+346 p. il. por. O. cl., **$1.60 net.

Mr. Whitman first gained attention as an authority on German affairs by a book he wrote in 1888, entitled "Imperial Germany." Mr. Whitman made the acquaintance of Bismarck shortly after he retired from office, and claims that he is now the only Englishman living who was in any sense intimate with the great Chancellor. During the last seven years of Bismarck's life Mr. Whitman visited him no less than ten times. He arrived at Bismarck's home for the last visit a few hours after Bismarck had breathed his last. Outside the family not more than a dozen persons saw the dead statesman, and of these Whitman was one. As a result of this intimacy with Bismarck and his family this volume contains matter which is exclusive and of historical interest.

Williams, Francis Churchill. The captain; il. by Arthur I. Keller. Bost., Lothrop Pub. Co., [1903.] [Ja.] c. 4-439 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

A romance dealing with life on the eve of the Civil War and during it. Most of the people come from south of Mason-Dixon's line, and we see the struggle from their standpoint and sympathize with their difficulties in taking sides for or against the Union. The great figure of the captain, who will be at once recognized as General Grant, dominates the whole story, and offers the most striking portrait of that unique figure yet to be found in American fiction. The political events leading up to the great struggle and the battle scenes themselves are ably drawn.

Williams, H. Smith. Manuscripts, inscriptions and monuments, oriental, classical, medieval and modern, described, classified and arranged, comprehending the history of the art of writing; with more than two hundred facsimile reproductions in tone and color from the important languages of every age. In 4 portfolios. Portfolio 1. N. Y., Merrill & Baker, [1902.] c. il. f°, hf. cl., subs., for set of 4 portfolios, $100.

Contents: portfolio 1. (Lettered: The history of the art of writing. Oriental series.) Oriental series including Egyptian and Assyrian and the story of the decipherment of these long-forgotten languages; the other scripts of Asia; and the ancient Mexican writing of America.

Wilson, H. Silverwork and jewelry: a textbook for students and workers in metal; with diagrams by the author. N. Y., Appleton, 1903. [F.] c. 5-346 p. D. (Artistic crafts ser. of technical handbooks; ed. by W. R. Lethaby, no. 2.) cl., **1.40 net.

The second volume issued of the "Artistic crafts series," a series of technical handbooks intended for use in schools, workshops, and libraries. The book does not deal with the history of the jeweler's art. It is intended as a practical guide to some of the more simple processes of the craft. The author describes the operations of each process consecutively from beginning to end.

Wilson, W. Shakespeare and astrology, from a student's point of view. Bost., Occult Publishing Co., [1903.] c. 12 p. 12°, pap., 15 c.

Wisconsin. Supreme ct. Reports, vs. 107, 108, 109, 110, 112; Apr. 27, 1900-Nov. 5, 1901; F: K. Conover, off. rep. Chic., Callaghan & Co., 1901-1902. c. O. shp., ea., $2.75.

Vs. 107 and 110, prepared and ed. for the rep. by C: F. Lamb.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 14, 1903.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

WHAT AN INVENTORY SHOULD INCLUDE.

THE season of stock-taking seems to us a particularly appropriate time to extend the taking of the inventory all along the line, invading the counting room and including the account books as well as the books in stock and the fixtures. It is just as well, from time to time, to take the measure of the people with whom we deal as it is, once or twice a year, to become thoroughly well acquainted with the things in which we deal. In the rush of the busy seasons the modest, uncomplaining, prompt-paying customer is sometimes "con-founded" along with the blatant slow-paying "kicker," to the injustice of the desirable customer and the serious injury of the business. A careful, systematic sifting of the accounts will help to correct the recurrence of such mistakes, and help to restore the equilibrium of conducting the business. Moreover, it will assist in definitely separating the undesirable or questionable customer from the profitable one; and if the system is carefully followed up it should aid in eventually eliminating the "dead beat" altogether.

In every community there are three classes of buyers—those able and willing to pay promptly; those willing to pay as soon as able, and those who are neither able nor willing to pay for anything they get. The customers of the first class named, it is needless to say, should be allowed every latitude and receive all encouragement possible in the store, and be granted favors, even if the granting of them at times may involve transactions in which there may be little immediate profit.

The customers of the second class should be more carefully studied than the first, and kept within their means. To encourage such customers to extravagance in buying is to incur the risk of sharing in their bankruptcy. Their accounts, also, should be kept closely collected. This may be done unobtrusively and without fear of giving offense, if the system is begun at the start. It all depends upon how the customer is trained.

The third class should be frozen out as soon as detected. Even if the amount at the time his character is discovered should be considerable, the "dead beat" should be cut off at once. He will never pay, even when a judgment has been secured against him, because his only assets are liabilities; and even if he had attachable assets he would know how to secure them against creditor and minion of the law. Indeed, to paraphrase the "plain language from Truthful James," "for ways that are dark and for tricks that are vain the ['dead beat'] is peculiar."

In the future let care be taken in opening new accounts that the reports of the standing of the customer desiring credit are based on reliable data. A number of mercantile agencies throughout the country have reduced commercial ratings to almost a science, and money spent in this direction is as well applied as it is in insuring the stock against fire, and is precisely as legitimate an expense against the business, as it insures against loss of another kind.

Stock-taking, in conclusion, should show the bookseller his strong and weak points in selling as clearly as it may be made to show him these points in buying. If it fails to do either he should call in an expert to show him how it can be done, or shut up his shop ere the sheriff closes it for him.

PUBLISHING DIFFICULTIES IN TURKEY.

ALL printing establishments in Turkey, according to a new law just passed, may have only one door, and that opening on to the street. Windows must be covered with close-meshed wire netting, so that no papers can be handed through. A statement must be made a year in advance of the amount of ink required, which will be supplied by the state. A specimen of everything printed is to be kept, and must be shown at any time to a police inspector on pain of a fine.

FOR ABOLISHING THE DUTY ON BOOKS.

MR. GEORGE P. BRETT follows up his interesting letters to the New York Evening Post on the "Duty on Books," from which we quoted fully in our last week's issue, with a plea for abolishing altogether that duty as unjustified from every point of view that he may take. As the matter is of particular interest to the trade, we give below extracts covering the salient points:

"If it be conceded that duty on books was needed in the early development of our country, either for purposes of revenue or to protect the printing and allied trades, or, more important still, for the purpose of fostering and encouraging the original work of our native authors, it must be clear that such a duty is no longer for any of these reasons either necessary or expedient.

"For the purposes of revenue, even if our Government faced a yearly deficit instead of a large yearly surplus, the duty on books is unnecessary in that the amount of duty collected is very small in comparison with the costs of collection, which latter, in all probability, if exact statistics were obtainable, would be found to exceed the amount of the duty collected.

"The imports of books into the United States, in value, were as follows:

1899.	1900.	1901.	*1902.
$1,487,297	$1,601,303	$1,705,102	$1,605,422
*Eleven months.

"As these totals include the value of books imported from France, Germany, and other foreign countries, it is clear that the gross amount of duty collected must be very small. It is interesting, also, to note that the removal of the duty on foreign books (other than English) has not apparently resulted in any considerable increase in the value of these books imported, the figures for Germany standing as follows:

1899.	1900.	1901.	1902.
$229,947	$251,209	$258,284	$261,464

and for France:

1899.	1900.	1901.	1902.
$85,534	$99,808	$126,624	$76,201

"When we turn to the matter of protection for the printing and allied trades, the duty is unnecessary, as these important trades can no longer be called 'infant industries' in any sense of this much-abused term, and in the production of the cheaper classes of books this country may, without doubt, I think, claim to lead all other English-speaking countries, both in the amount of material produced and in the cheapness of its costs of manufacture.

"If protection to these trades, moreover, were still needed, it is already provided, and in a much more effective form, by the provision of our International Copyright Act, which makes a copyright in this country depend upon the manufacture of the article copyrighted within the limits of the United States.

"It may be pointed out, also in this connection, that we already admit into this country without duty books printed in other languages than English, and if the duty were levied for purposes of protection, our printers of books in French, German, Spanish, and other languages are entitled to more rather than less protection than our printers of books in our own language.

"Personally I am inclined to look with disfavor, if we are to have a duty on books at all, to the provision of the law admitting books in foreign languages duty free, if for no other reason than because it tends to make books printed in French, German, and other foreign languages cheaper than corresponding books in English, and our large foreign population should be encouraged, before all else, to read our native literature and become, by its aid, a part and parcel of the great American people rather than to remain for a day longer than is necessary foreigners in our midst.

"When we turn to the more important reason for the existence of the duty, the only reason if there be one worthy of our serious attention—i.e., the necessity of fostering a native literature, a literature which shall echo the needs and voice the sentiments of our national life—it still appears that we may with entire safety abandon the duty on books, a duty which has been often and aptly termed 'a tax on knowledge.'

"Here again the workings of our International Copyright Act, an act of 'justice to foreign authors,' has had results of great importance to our own people. Our younger and less-known authors have, since the passage of the act, found a much more ready welcome and appreciation at the hands of American publishers, who are no longer able to appropriate and exploit the works of foreign authors without payment or cost, the American author being thereby relieved from the burdens of competition with the productions of unpaid foreign writers.

"Who reads an American book?—a question asked first in scorn and derision in the early dawn of our literature—is often in these days made the caption for articles referring to our preëminence in production of books among English-speaking peoples.

"Few persons, however, I think, really know to what an extent our American books have in recent years taken possession of the booksellers' counters, the librarians' shelves, and the bookbuyers' preferences, in Great Britain and other foreign markets. Here, again, I may quote with advantage the statistics published by our Government. The exports of books and other printed matter from the United States were in round numbers as follows:

$2,700,000	$3,200,000	$3,600,000	$4,000,000
*Eleven months.

or a growth of nearly 50 per cent. in the four years, as compared with a growth in imports from $1,500,000 in 1899 to $1,600,000 in 1902, or less than 7 per cent. It is interesting, also, to note that our exports of books to the United Kingdom increased nearly $250,000 in the same period, and that our exports of books to Great Britain now almost exactly equal in value the books imported from that country.

"This is, however, a matter which has again and again been referred to in the English literary papers, which evidence a disposition to stem the tide by giving the greater prominence, wherever it is possible to do so, to books by their own authors.

"The fact is, that the supremacy of America, which has long been manifest in economic matters—in matters of trade and finance—is also becoming plainly discernible in matters literary, and it is rightly so. Out of the peoples that overran the British Islands and made, when amalgamated, the great English nation, rose a great literature, from which we must always borrow—as Shakespeare borrowed from the literature of Italy—and for which we must ever be grateful." . . .

FREEDING DEPARTMENT STORES IN GERMANY.

AN important decision was rendered last month by the Prussian Supreme Court in Berlin, which declared the anti-department store tax as illegal and inconsistent with the laws governing free competition. This law was enacted in 1897 for the purpose of helping out the small shopkeepers, and in response to the clamour against the department store. Berlin went further than most countries in fighting the department store question, but the Supreme Court now labels the law as illegal, and it is a question if the authorities will not be obliged to pay back all the taxes collected from department stores in accordance with the graded tax regulation, paid under this law, for the last four years.

Gradually, but nevertheless inevitably, traditions in Germany, especially among the Prussian Yankees, as the Berliner is called, are being overthrown—sometimes unobtrusively, sometimes forcibly. Ten years ago every business man in Berlin predicted the speedy failure of a tentative attempt made by a dealer in dry goods on the Friedrichstrasse to carry three or four side lines. Five years later a half dozen department stores on the Leipzigerstrasse controlled the bulk of the retail trade in that section of the city. To-day one of these firms, Tietz, through its branches in Antwerp, Munich, Rome and other large cities, controls a considerable portion of the retail trade on the Continent. It is little wonder, therefore, that laws discriminating against department stores were bound to be attacked, and that, when fairly brought to trial, they would prove unconstitutional under a monarchy as they have been so declared in a republic.

WILL KIPLING MAKE THE AMENDE HONORABLE?

THE New York Times, commenting editorially on the recent decision of United States Circuit Court against Mr. Kipling in his suit against G. P. Putnam's Sons, says: "There was a peculiar unpleasantness about this lawsuit against this particular publishing house, because it was the American publishing house which, in the person of its senior partner, Mr. George Haven Putnam, had labored longest and most earnestly for a real and substantial international copyright. Nobody had done more to procure the enactment of the very law that gave Mr. Kipling any standing in an American court and enabled him to use. The decision is gratifying in this account. Since Mr. Kipling has failed to induce any expert and impartial person to agree with him that he had a case, it is to be hoped that he will accept the unanimous voice of such persons that he has not, and make such amends to a firm of honorable publishers as the circumstances admit."

A NEW DEPARTURE FOR THE TOWN TOPICS PUBLISHING COMPANY.

THE TOWN TOPICS PUBLISHING COMPANY has organized a trade book publishing department of copyrighted books in cloth and paper editions and expects to have ready for the spring trade a number of cloth copyrighted books. They have about ready for delivery an illustrated copyrighted 25-cent line, carrying 36 titles, with frontispieces in color, and covers illustrated in five and six colors from original drawings, made by some of the best artists in America, such as Bayard Jones, Archie Gunn, E. M. Ashe, and others equally well known. As there are a very few 25 and 50 cent copyrighted paper lines offered the trade, these lines will no doubt appeal to booksellers as a specially good addition to their stocks, the profit to the trade being ten cents on the copy, or forty cents on the dollar.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

A MEETING of the American Publishers' Association was held at the rooms of the Aldine Association, on Wednesday, the 11th, in the afternoon, at which there was a full attendance.

A communication from the American Library Association, presented through Mr. W. T. Peoples, was read by the President, as follows:

WHEREAS, The system of net prices maintained by the American Publishers' Association has resulted in an unexpectedly large increase in the price of books to libraries; and

WHEREAS, That increase has worked great hardship upon libraries in limiting their purchases of current books, diminishing their power of meeting the demands of the public, and narrowing their influence and opportunities as educational institutions; and

WHEREAS, The interests of the library and the bookseller should be closely allied;

Resolved, That the American Library Association urges the American Publishers' Association to make such arrangement that libraries may secure an increased discount over the present allowance on net books, and may not be unduly restricted in dealing with booksellers.

It was moved that, owing to the opposition of the American Booksellers' Association, it is impossible for the American Publishers' Association to make any changes in its rulings regarding discounts to libraries. The motion was seconded and carried unanimously.

The question of juvenile publications was considered, and it was decided that after March 1 "such juveniles as may be described as board books, flat picture books or toy books" might be published on the same basis as fiction, which means that they may be sold at retail at a discount not greater than 28 per cent. This is a class of books, it will be noted, that is sold principally at department stores, often on the toy counter, and one in which regular booksellers have little interest. It may be said also that few, if any, of such books are issued by the publishers who formed the Association, and the modification is made principally for the newer members and is no backward step.

A plan for regulating the discount given by jobbers on protected books was presented, and after discussion it was ordered that the plan should be printed and sent to all the members, to be acted upon at another meeting on February 25.

At a meeting of the Board the following officers were elected: Charles Scribner, president; Frank H. Dodd, 1st vice-president; George H. Mifflin, 2d vice-president; Frank H. Scott, treasurer; and George P. Brett, secretary. The following were elected to serve as directors with the officers: Daniel Appleton, Craige Lippincott, W. F. Zimmerman, and G. B. M. Harvey.

David McKay was elected to annual membership in the Association.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE EIGHTH ANNUAL DINNER.

THE eighth annual dinner of The Booksellers' League was given on the evening of February 11, at the rooms of the Aldine Association. Notwithstanding the heavy rain during the early part of the evening about 125 members and their guests assembled about the board when the dinner bell was rung. There were representatives of the trade from neighboring cities, the West even being represented—by Mr. Bray, of A. C. McClurg & Co., of Chicago. The excellent dinner of seven courses was eaten leisurely, and the hour hand of the clock pointed close to nine o'clock when the president, John A. Holden, arose to introduce the speaking of the evening, and the members of the League settled themselves in comfortable positions to enjoy the second part of the programme.

Mr. Holden spoke briefly, as follows: "The Booksellers' League celebrates to-night the rounding out of its eighth year of existence. Eight years is an old age for an organization so essentially bohemian as ours. An ordinary club makes money, while we appear to lose it, and yet thrive. An ordinary club seeks to settle in a permanent home, but we cheerfully wander about and stay only as long as we are pleased. An ordinary club saves from its income for a building fund; our dues when paid are joyously spent. An ordinary club is generally in debt; we never have been in debt, and probably never shall be—because the dinner bell will not ring out if the treasury is empty.

"There are few associations like ours. After eight years of knocking about in halls, restaurants, hotels and club rooms, always progressing to a simple ideal, the Booksellers' League to-day has a larger and more steadfast membership than ever. The League stands for good fellowship, is content with a quiet place in which to eat a good dinner and to enjoy the rare intellectual treats so bountifully provided on every occasion. This happy combination has been enjoyed without high taxes, or much red tape, and that is why we are all loyal to the League and enthusiastic in its maintenance. The League has been the means of forming and fostering many friendships among its members; and it is for this, if for no other reason, that it ought to have a warm place in the heart of the booktrade, since it has afforded an opportunity for its members to become better acquainted one with the other.

"The Booksellers' League, I claim, is a sane club, run on simple lines, and serves a good purpose. Let us continue steadfast to the League now, next year and for many years to come."

The president next introduced the Plectra Mandolin Club, who favored the League with several pieces.

Professor John Dyneley Prince, of Columbia University, who has made extensive researches among the Northeastern American Indians, was the first speaker, and gave a most interesting talk on the Indians whose customs he had studied. He recited very effectively several passages from "Kulóskap, the Master," which he brought out last fall, in collaboration with Charles Godfrey Leland, closing his talk with an imitation of a "Song to the Wind" as rendered by a tribe of South American Indians. Professor Prince was heartily applauded and every one regretted that his talk could not have lasted longer.

Will Carleton, the author of "Farm Bal-lads," spoke to the subject of "Books Chained and Unchained," in which he dwelt rather on bonds of pride, ignorance, jealousy, poor workmanship, etc., that prevents the diffusion of knowledge, rather than the physical bonds that kept knowledge from the masses centuries ago. Mr. Carleton gave many of his early experiences as teacher and journalist, all of which kept his hearers in good humor for some time.

William J. Long was to have spoken about "Animals and Men," but was prevented from being present on account of illness.

Dr. Minot J. Savage struck a serious note in his talk on "Sins of Booksellers," in which, however, he touched impressively on some of the shortcomings of authors, as well as of the booktrade. Dr. Savage's remarks were lighted up by flashes of good-natured satire and humorous references to his own weaknesses as a book collector.

After the Plectra Mandolin Club had rendered some more music, Mr. Carleton, to round out the evening, kindly deferred to a very general request that he recite from some of his works, which he did to the entire satisfaction of the company.

At about half-past eleven, the rain having ceased and the moon lighting up the skies, the members broke up and made their way towards home.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HUBBARD T. SMITH, author of "Listen to My Tale of Woe," a favorite college song, and several other equally popular songs, died in Genoa, Italy, on the 10th inst. Mr. Smith was a native of Indiana, and was in the Government service since 1876.

LEO E. BERLINER, music publisher of New York, died suddenly in a Pullman car of the Pennsylvania railroad train that arrived at Trenton, N. J., on Sunday evening, February 8. Mr. Berliner was about thirty-eight years old and was as well known as a writer of popular songs as he was as a publisher and maker of gramophone and phonograph records.

EDNA LYALL, the English novelist, died on the 9th inst., at Eastbourne, Eng. Edna Lyall, whose real name was Ada Ellen Bayly, was born at Brighton about 1860. Her father and grandfather had both been barristers. She early made up her mind to write stories. Her first published novel, "Won by Waiting," appeared in 1879, when she was less than eighteen years old, and was intended for girls. It failed to attract attention, and it was not until 1882, when "Donovan" appeared, in the regulation three volume novel form, that the name which the author had formed by transposing her real ones, became at all known. In 1884 she published "We Two," which established her popularity with a certain circle of readers, which was maintained by her subsequent novels. The names of these are "In the Golden Days," "Their Happiest Christmas," "Knight Errant," "Autobiography of a Slander," "A Hardy Norseman," "Derrick Vaughan, Novelist," "To Right the Wrong," "Doreen, the Story of a Singer," "How the Children Raised the Wind," "Autobiography of a Truth," "Wayfaring Men," "Hope the Hermit," "In Spite of All," and "The Hinderers," the last issued last year.

SIR CHARLES GAVAN DUFFY, the former Irish leader, and man of letters, died February 9, at Nice. He was born at Monaghan, Ireland, April 12, 1816, and when twenty became sub-editor of The Dublin Morning Register. Later he founded the Dublin Nation. In 1852 he was elected a member of Parliament. In the House of Commons he helped to found the Independent Irish Party. In 1871 he became Prime Minister of Victoria, resigning the following year. Sir Charles held many important official places in subsequent years, including that of Speaker of the Victorian Legislative Assembly, and took an active part in encouraging art, literature and industrial enterprise in the new country. He returned to Europe in 1880 and took up literary work. He published in 1880 "Young Ireland: A Fragment of Irish History, 1840-'50," and later "Four Years of Irish History, 1845-'49." In 1892 he published "Conversations with Carlyle," which had a remarkable success. Other works from his pen were "The League of North and South," "Life of Thomas Davis" and "Bird's-eye View of Irish History." He also contributed to periodicals on colonial and Irish subjects. In 1898 he published his memoirs, in two volumes. For ten years he had lived in Nice.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

WE regret to hear that Charles Godfrey Leland is seriously ill and not expected to live.

EDEN PHILLPOTT's new novel, "The Transit of the Red Dragon," is to be completed this month.

MRS. CRAIGIE is at work upon a story of life in a modern provincial town, to be entitled "The Vineyard."

RIDER HAGGARD's new novel "The Pearl of Malden," a story of the fall of Jerusalem, will be ready in a few weeks.

ANDREW LANG intends to bring out a collected edition of his works. Mr. Lang is also contemplating a visit to the United States.

ARTHUR MORRISON is at work upon a story to be entitled "The Painters of Japan," for which he has collected much valuable information from Japanese sources.

WILLIAM LE QUEUX's new story, entitled "The Closed Book," turns upon a chapter of the secret history of Cesare Borgia, discovered in a sixteenth century manuscript.

"ANGUS MCNEILL," whose nationality and identity have been questioned, is said to come of a hunting family and lives near Evesham, in Worcestershire. He is said to be a sportsman himself, and to have been for a number of years a resident of England.

A FEW days ago Ferdinand Brunetière gave a dinner in Paris for Mrs. John Van Vorst, to introduce to her several people interested to meet the "Esther Kelly" of the "Woman Who Toils." Paris has been stirred by the article in the Revue des Deux Mondes on "L'ouvrière aux Etats Unis." This article was a résumé of certain parts of the "Woman Who Toils." It was reprinted at length in the French daily papers. Mrs. Van Vorst was correspondent for the New York Evening Post and for the Commercial Advertiser for years. A year ago she wrote, in conjunction with her sister-in-law, "Bagsby's Daughters."

LEOPOLD MABILLEAU, who has been retained as official lecturer of the Alliance Française Federation, sailed from Havre last Saturday. His selection has been endorsed by the various branches of the association, and during his stay in this country M. Mabileau is to be entertained by the majority of them, besides delivering above a hundred lectures under the auspices of our universities and other institutions. M. Mabileau will deliver the Hyde lectures at Cambridge, under the auspices of the Cercle Française de l'Université Harvard. The general subject of this always interesting course is to be "The Fundamental Notions in French Politics Since 1870." He will also lecture in New York, Dartmouth, Baltimore, Princeton, Philadelphia, Chicago, and a number of other cities West and South.

"SEVENTY lyrical poets in Germany," according to the New York Sun, "have organized a union and established a minimum wage of half a mark a line for all union-made poetry. Obviously, this remuneration is not excessive: for a sonnet it means seven marks ($1.75), for the quatrain—a form much affected by the publishers—two marks, or fifty cents. Just how these Meistersingers intend to treat lyrical scabs, by precisely what application of the boycott the publishers are to be brought to book, whether a member of the poets' union may or may not do military service, finally, whether any unjustifiable limitation of poetic production and restriction of the number of apprentices are contemplated, does not as yet appear. It may fairly be assumed that, unlike our plasterers, the German poets will discipline no publisher for 'rushing his men,' and one may imagine also that the hours of labor will still be left to individual caprice."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Edinburgh Review for January (Leonard Scott Publishing Co.) contains an essay on "The Novels of Mr. Henry James"; and an essay on Zola's "Les Trois Villes" ("Lourdes," "Rome" and "Paris") both of which are models of scholarly criticism.

THE April issue of New Shakespeariana will contain the complete Morgan-Platt debate, "Shakespeare and Bacon: Can They be Reconciled?" which was withdrawn from the press in 1901 to await developments of the Gallup Cipher struggle. Dr. Appleton Morgan, for Shakespeare, and Dr. Isaac Hull Platt, for the doubters, arrive at a sort of protocol or consensus, which perhaps will be accepted as the nearest to a settlement this old controversy will ever admit of.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS announces that the first number of Modern Philology, a quarterly journal devoted to research in the modern languages and literatures, will be published June 1 this year. Philology will be interpreted in its widest sense, and contributions will be welcomed upon subjects in literary history, linguistics, culture-history, folk-lore, and international relations in literature and language. The board of editors consists of Philip Schuyler Allen, managing editor; Frederic Ives Carpenter, English; Camillo von Klenze, German; and Thomas Atkinson Jenkins, Romance. The editors will have the counsel and active co-operation of an advisory board of distinguished scholars, namely Professors Kittredge, Bright, Thomas, von Jagemann, Warren, Matzke, Hempl, and Gummere.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

ALFRED POLLARD, in his paper on the "Bibliography of English Poetical MSS.," read before the January meeting of the London Bibliographical Society, estimated the number of these MSS., exclusive of single poems, at 2000, of which the British Museum has about 500, the Bodleian about 400, Cambridge about 300, and so on. He urged his Society to make a rough list of these MSS. for the use of students, which had never been attempted, although many excellent catalogues of printed books had been compiled.

BUSINESS NOTES.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.—E. L. Whitney, of Florence, and A. E. Grimwood, of this city, who for the past seven years has been connected with the Low book store on North Tejon, have purchased the business from Mr. Low, who will retire from active business for the present. Mr. Whitney comes to Colorado Springs highly recommended. Prior to coming to this State about two years ago he was in the same line of business in the East. Mr. Grimwood is a well-known young man and his business capabilities are measured only by the scope of his business field.

ELDORADO, KAN.—J. A. Wiedemann, bookseller, is selling out.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y.—Willis E. Diefendorf, bookseller, has been succeeded by his brother, Fenton G. Diefendorf, and Theodore S. Waters, the name of the new firm being Diefendorf & Waters. Willis E. Diefendorf embarked in the book and stationery business in Fort Plain nearly a quarter of a century ago, during which period he worked up a business that has few equals in the State outside of the larger cities.

HAVERHILL, MASS.—Henry E. Ayer has moved his stationery and periodical store to larger and better quarters at 45 Washington Street.

LONG BEACH, CAL.—C. E. LeRoy has bought A. C. Malone's book business.

MEDICINE LODGE, KAN.—Robert Mounsey, bookseller, has sold out.

NEW YORK CITY.—Cassell & Company have removed their New York offices to 43 and 45 East Nineteenth Street.

PADUCAH, KY.—E. B. Harbour has purchased all the school books contained in the stock of John T. Powell, bookseller, that was bought as a whole a short time ago by William O'Brien, of Madisonville, who is selling the stock out. Mr. Harbour is having the books removed to his establishment on North Third Street, where they are being placed in the book department, which already holds all the music formerly carried by the Powell house.

SELMA, ALA.—The Rowell-Sterne Book Company has been organized and will conduct a general business in books and stationery. Its authorized capital is $10,000. T. J. Rowell and Jerome Sterne are the managers.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—Arthur Malone has moved his Twentieth Century book store to the old Merrill residence.

SPRING VALLEY, MINN.—M. G. Van Loan has bought Frederick Correll's book business.

TEMPLE, TEX.—J. E. Harvey has succeeded Harvey & Lucas, booksellers.

UNION, N. J.—The Co-operative Book and Supply Company has been incorporated, with its principal office at 46 Bergenline Avenue. The object of the company is to manufacture books. Capital, $10,000. Incorporators: Fred Atthner, John Schmidt, Aug. Wetterer.

UNIONTOWN, ALA.—G. W. Long, bookseller, has succeeded G. W. Long & Co.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish shortly in book form the address on Phillips Brooks delivered on the tenth anniversary of his death, January 23, in Trinity Church, Boston, by Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts.

THE order of arrest obtained by David Belasco for Mrs. Bertram Babcock ("Onoto Watanna") was vacated on the 6th inst. by Justice Leventritt, in the Supreme Court because the proof by affidavit that a sufficient cause of action existed was defective.

THOMAS WILLING BALCH, 1412 Spruce Street, Philadelphia, will publish shortly a monograph on "The Alaskan Frontier," in which he gives, what he considers, some "absolutely conclusive evidence against Canada and England." Twenty-six maps, some reproduced from scarce specimens, will accompany the text.

JULIUS F. SACHSE, 4428 Pine Street, Philadelphia, announces another volume of his historical researches, entitled "Justus Falckner, Mystic and Scholar, Devout Pietist in Germany, Hermit on the Wissahickon, Missionary on the Hudson: a Bicentennial Memorial." An edition of 500 copies will be published by subscription.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "Personal Reminiscences of Prince Bismarck," by Sidney Whitman, who from 1891 to 1896 made frequent visits to Friedrichsruhe; "Silverwork and Jewelry," by H. Wilson, a text-book for students and workers in metal; and "A Whaleman's Wife," by F. T. Bullen, a novel dedicated to Theodore Roosevelt.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just published "The Truth and Error of Christian Science," by M. Carta Sturge, a Cambridge graduate, with a preface by Canon Scott Holland. Some of the conclusions are not altogether flattering to the cause of Christian Science, but they are of undoubted significance as the author has given the matter very serious study.

THE NEW AMSTERDAM BOOK COMPANY announce in their Commonwealth Library, "The Wild Northland," by General Sir William Francis Butler; also, the "Life and Voyages of Americus Vesputius," by C. Edwards Lester, U. S. Consul to Genoa, 1845. They will add shortly to their Wittyman's Library a little volume of miscellaneous information, entitled "Curious Facts."

HENRY HOLT & Co. are sending Professor Kuno Francke's "History of German Literature" to press for the sixth time. One reason that may be found for the popularity of this work is the author's remarkable sympathy with and understanding of the great modern German dramatists, like Hauptmann and Sudermann, of some of whose works he gives unusually illuminating accounts.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have in preparation a volume of literary essays by Frank Norris. This will also be included in the Memorial edition of Norris's works, which Doubleday, Page and Co. contemplate publishing. They will issue in the spring a book of selections from the humorous lectures of Simeon Ford, edited by himself, under the title of "A Few Remarks."

LEONARDO DA VINCI's manuscripts have been scattered all over the world in public and private collections. The Italian Government has now decided to have all of them copied and to publish the complete works of Da Vinci for the first time. The books will present accumulated wisdom upon an amazing number of subjects, and the task of obtaining and editing them is a formidable one, but the Government will bear the expense.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish this month the long expected book on psychology, with special reference to solved and unsolved problems of mental or spiritual phenomena, by the late F. W. H. Myers. The work, which will be in two volumes, is entitled "Human Personality and Its Survival of Bodily Death." Hundreds of curious cases drawn from the archives of the Psychical Research Society and from other sources are discussed.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "The Mystery of Sleep," by John Bigelow, who argues that sleep is the period and the agency which ennoble man and makes him receptive for the flow of the divine spirit; "The Pride of Telfair," by Elmore Elliott Peake, a story of Northern Illinois; and "The New Boy at Dale," by Charles Edward Rich, a story of a boy stolen from his home, who after many adventures comes to the Dale school and its healthy influences.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE DAVIS on the 7th inst. signed an order directing the Frederick A. Stokes Company to show cause why it should not be enjoined from publishing a calendar called the "Maude Adams Calendar," on which Miss Adams is portrayed in various scenes in the plays in which she has starred under Charles Frohman's management. Mr. Frohman says that he alone has the right to publish this calendar. He sells the calendars at a large profit for $1.50 apiece while the Stokes Company, he says, has reproduced them and sells them for 50 cents.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON have just issued "The Church and the Ministry in the Early Centuries," by Thomas M. Lindsay, Principal of the Glasgow College of the United Free Church of Scotland, forming the eighteenth series of the Cunningham Lectures; "Biblical and Literary Essays," by the late A. B. Davidson, Professor of Hebrew, New College, Edinburgh, edited by his successor, Professor J. A. Patterson; and "Thirsting for the Springs," by J. H. Jowett, addresses originally published in The Examiner, which, yielding to many requests, are now put into book form just as first spoken.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish February 28 "Love Mary," "the new book about Mrs. Wiggs," the advance sale of which has been very large. In March they will bring out "When Patty Went to College," a novel dealing with the lighter phase of life at a girl's college, by Jean Webster, a new recruit to the ranks of story-writers the distinctive quality of whose work is spontaneity and humor. They are about to publish a new volume by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, who is said to be the oldest story teller now writing for the English reading public. The volume will be entitled "A Comedy of Conscience."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready a good serviceable handbook on "A Woman's Hardy Garden," by Helena Rutherford Ely, giving information about hardy perennials, biennials, shrubs and bulbs. The author has realized from personal experience that a simple description of the best hardy plants, with directions for raising them, will be useful to many people who want gardens but who are tired of, or cannot afford, the expense of bedding out plants. She tells how and when to sow, plant and transplant, and the conditions best suited to each variety; also how a small garden can be prepared and planted with bulbs and perennials at small expense so that one may have flowers in blossom continually from mid-April until well into November.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. announce in the American Citizen Series, edited by Professor Albert Bushnell Hart, a new volume on the "Financial History of the United States," by Professor David Rich Dewey, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, with charts, bibliographies, etc.; also, the fifth edition of Dr. Carroll D. Wright's "Outline of Practical Sociology" revised to include the results of the twelfth United States census. They have just ready "The Ramparts of Jezreel," a romantic novel, by Arnold Davenport, founded on the biblical narrative of events leading to the accession of Jehu to the throne of Israel and to the death of Jezebel. Jehu, the Prophet Elisha and a supposed daughter of Elijah are leading characters, and the siege and capture of Jezreel is the climax of the story.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish in a few weeks a volume of verse entitled "The Gates of Silence and Interludes of Song," by Robert Loveman whose former books, "Poems," (1896,) and "A Book of Verses," (1900,) were published by the Lippincotts. The new volume consists of fifty double quatrains of a reflective nature interspersed with lighter song. The Putnams have in press a timely work in two volumes on "The States of South America," by Thomas C. Dawson. The author, a Harvard graduate of the class of '87, is secretary to the legation in Brazil. The volumes, which will be made an addition to the Story of the Nations series, will consider the South American States severally, the first volume being devoted to Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay and Brazil, and the second embracing the remainder of the South American States.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY publish this week "Two Heroes of Cathay," by Luella Miner. It is the story of two Chinese boys who came to the United States hoping to complete their education. Owing to an imperfection in their passport, they had very trying experiences in the hands of the immigration authorities. Their constancy and courage, in the face of disheartening and almost inhuman treatment, is well set forth. It is a narrative that shows how our exclusion laws sometimes work to our national disadvantage and dishonor. They have also just brought out "The Heart of John Wesley's Journal," an abridgment of Percy Livingstone Parker's classic journal, prepared for the celebration of the bi-centennial birthday of John Wesley, which is to be observed this year throughout the world; and "The Life of Joseph Parker," by the Rev. Dr. William Adamson.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will bring out in the near future a work of much interest to lovers of flowers, entitled "The Flower Garden," by Ida Bennett. It is essentially a practical book, written by a practical woman. Her aim is to tell everything that it is useful to know about the raising of flowers, and she begins at the very beginning with a chapter on the selection of seeds. Other chapters deal with "Soils," "Transplanting," "Fertilizers," "The Care of Household Plants," "Aquatics," etc.—every side of each subject being thoroughly and simply explained. The little volume is just the thing for the amateur gardener, and it will start him correctly on the way he should go. It is simple enough to be put into the hands of children who have gardens, but more experienced flower raisers will find the many original little tricks and schemes of the author profitable as well as interesting to read about. The book is adequately illustrated.

R. H. RUSSELL has just published a modern Rollo book, by John Kendrick Bangs, entitled "Emblemland," in which the author takes his protégé into a land peopled with the characters familiar to all Americans as emblems—the Republican elephant, the Democratic tiger, etc. C. R. Macauley, the cartoonist, contributes more than forty amusing illustrations. Mr. Russell has also just ready, "The Romance of Cinderella," an elaboration, by Miss Ella M. Boulton, of the old familiar story into a romance of poetic charm; "La Gioconda," Mme. Duse's text of D'Annunzio's play, translated by Arthur Symons; also, the text of James Jeffrey Roche's diverting romance of the Harem, "Her Majesty the King." Mr. Russell has in preparation a portfolio of "Twelve Portraits—second series," by William Nicholson; also, a large paper edition of "World Pictures," the superb book of travel by Mortimer Menpes and his daughter.

OSTERMOOR & COMPANY, 116 Elizabeth Street, New York, will publish February 16 a unique and delightful book called "The Witchery of Sleep," by Mr. Willard Moyer, who has been a student of sleep and its trappings for years. Besides running the gamut of the sentiment on the subject, its import and character, it contains much practical information regarding sleep, its mystery and phenomena, and treats at length of sleeplessness, its cause and effect. In addition to these features, the work contains a careful selection of the best poetry, together with many interesting sleep facts and fancies. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the book is the chapter on "Sleeping Places," and a wealth of illustrations showing the evolution of the bed. These illustrations consist of specially engraved half-tones in two colors, reproducing historic beds and interiors since the days of King Solomon. As many of these illustrations have not heretofore been published, the interest attached to them can be imagined.

LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY have just ready a Christian Science novel, "The Life Within," by an anonymous writer, which will no doubt interest believers quite as much as the general public, because of its dramatic value and vivid pictures of the wonders of the new faith. They will publish on the 20th inst. two novels: "Cliveden," Kenyon West's historical romance of Chew House, Germantown, in the Revolutionary days, and Frederick W. Eldridge's satiric novel of society life, "A Social Cockatrice," an arraignment of fashion and folly in plutocratic circles, with a heroine whose striking personality and brilliant, though heartless, adventures in climbing into the most exclusive circles, make good reading. They will bring out on February 25 Charles Warren Stoddard's book of essays, entitled "Exits and Entrances," containing a dozen and a half memories and sketches by the famous author of the "South Sea Idyls." They will bring out at the same time Richard Burton's latest volume of verse, "Message and Melody," representing his maturer work.

A. J. HOLMAN & Co. will publish on March 1st an epoch-making work in archæology, entitled "Explorations in Bible Lands During the Nineteenth Century," edited by Professor H. V. Hilprecht, scientific director of the Babylonian Expedition of the University of Pennsylvania, and author of the leading article, "The Resurrection of Assyria and Babylonia," which takes up considerably over half of this important contribution on exploration work in Bible lands. Nearly ten years ago the publishers approached Professor Hilprecht with a request to prepare for the close of the century a brief historical sketch on the explorations in Bible lands. After much hesitation the professor consented to become responsible for the execution of their comprehensive plan, provided he were allowed to solicit the co-operation of other specialists for the subjects outside of his own investigations. His choice fell upon Licentiate Dr. J. Benziger, of the University of Berlin, for "Palestine;" on Prof. Dr. Georg Steindorff, of Leipzig, for "Egypt;" on Prof. Dr. Fritz Hommel, University of Munich, for "Arabia;" and on Prof. Dr. P. Jensen, University of Marburg, for "The Hittites." The recent munificent gift of $100,000 for the permanent endowment of Dr. Hilprecht's professorship has called new attention to him and his explorations. The publishers have made a very beautiful volume, including four specially prepared maps and nearly two hundred illustrations. The description of the great Temple Library at Nippur occupies 300 of the 900 pages of the book.

PICK-UPS.

AUTHORSHIP.—"Could you write as good a book as this Sizzers who has leaped into fame?" "I could write a better book," answered the self-trustful author, "but I couldn't write one that would sell as well."—Washington Star.

A WILD GUESS.—Little Clarence (who reads and ponders)—Pa, who was Pepys? Mr. Callipers—I don't know, my son—in fact, I do not know anybody who does know; but I fancy he was the man who first invented dyspepsia.—Judge.

THE impression is certainly bound to grow that there exists some wag in the remote regions of the undefined West who amuses himself by sending in unconscionable orders to staid publishers in the East. The latest instance is the receipt by Harper & Bros. of an order for "Napoleon, the Last Faze of Rosenberg," and "Heroine of Affection," by Howls.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

A SON OF DESTINY

   The Story of Andrew Jackson

A man who was already popular and unpopular; profane, chivalrous; rough, tender; a man to hang traitors and sign bills; hot-headed and prudent; a man who owned slaves, racehorses, and fighting cocks; a man to defy authority and be a mariner; fighter and duelist; loved, feared, hated, admired, traduced, eulogized; superb in his virtues and magnificent even in his faults; favorite of opportunity and son of destiny—Andrew Jackson

FOR LATE FEBRUARY PUBLICATION

Maxim Gorky

By E. J. Dillon. The story of the great Russian tramp-author's rise from the depths. A biography powerful because of its subject, and because of the way it is presented. It reads like a romance. The author is an authority on all matters relating to Russian character and customs. Net, $1.50

The Posy Ring

Edited by Kate Douglas Wiggin and Nora Archibald Smith. Poetry for little people—the very best of its kind selected from such authors as Stevenson, Eugene Field, and James Whitcomb Riley. The type is large and little children will find the book easy to read. Net, $1.25

The Squireen

By Shan F. Bullock. A strong novel of North Ireland life, dominated by a powerful character. It shows, in sharp and vivid scenes, the struggle of a man's best and worst impulses for the mastery of his conscience. $1.50

True Love

A comedy of the affections. By Edith Wyatt, author of "Every One His Own Way." A clever novel of modern life especially as it is lived in Chicago. Full of human people ruled by convincing human emotions. The author writes with ample appreciation of the humor in the life she depicts. $1.50

FOR EARLY MARCH PUBLICATION

The Rebellion of the Princess

By M. Imlay Taylor. A novel of adventure and intrigue in the Russian court. Each page leads irresistibly to the next, and the inevitable, or rushing quality of a "good story" is never lost for a moment. $1.50

The Blue Goose

By Frank L. Nason. A novel full-flavored with the stir, the excitement and the reckless gambling spirit that makes up the life of a Western mining camp. The story of the mine superintendent in his fight against his vicious employees, and his fight for his love, has the true ring of romance. $1.50

The Voice in the Desert

By Pauline Bradford Mackie (Hopkins). A novel of Arizona and the Desert. The subtle power of the Desert to work changes in character is the leading theme of the story. Because of this strange influence the hero, Liepenard, and his wife drift apart. It is a study of temperaments done with exceptional insight into human emotion and human nature. $1.50

The Better Way

By Charles Wagner. A companion volume to "The Simple Life." A book for the hurried and worried people of to-day. It contains thoughts of comfort and hope, of encouragement and counsel, expressed so broadly, so simply, so convincingly, and with such love of nature and humankind that they cannot fail to deliver their message. Net, $1.00

The Flower Garden

By Ida M. Bennett. A practical book on gardening by a practical woman. Its aim is to lay the basis of a complete garden education. Net, $2.00

JOURNEYS END

By

Justus Miles Forman

MOLLY

The English girl to whom young Calthrop was half engaged when he was an English gentleman of leisure, cousin to an Earl and a Duke, and heir to a vague "deal of money" (which presently turned out to be only a hundred pounds a year more than enough to pay his father's debts—sending him across the sea to America to seek his fortune by his own exertions.)

MISS EVELYN BERKELEY.

The charming and talented young American actress who helped to make young Calthrop famous by making a success of his play. The interesting problem presented by Mr. Forman in "Journeys End" is: Which girl would young Calthrop finally turn to, knowing that both cared for him, when he suddenly found himself both a celebrity and Duke of Oxbridge? That is to say—which goes the deeper: a man's inheritance and traditions, or the success he makes for himself?

A delightful romance of to-day, raising the question of human nature as to whether the real man is the man as he is born or as he makes himself. Not since "The Lady or the Tiger" has a tale been published so provocative of speculation and conjecture.

Charmingly illustrated    $1.50

Woman Who Toils

The Experiences of Two Gentlewomen as Factory Girls

By Mrs. John Van Vorst and Marie Van Vorst

CONTENTS

Introductory
In a Pittsburgh Factory
Perry, a New York Mill Town
Making Clothing in Chicago
What It All Means

By MRS. JOHN VAN VORST

A Maker of Shoes at Lynn
The Southern Cotton Mills
Child Labor in the South

By MARIE VAN VORST

THIS remarkable volume contains the experiences of two ladies who set out to discover by actual experience the conditions of American working girls. In a Pittsburgh pickle factory, in a mill town of New York, among the clothing makers of Chicago, the Lynn makers of shoes, the hands of the Southern cotton mills—the facts about the working women are given. The plain truth is set down without sensationalism; and the conclusions which follow inevitably from reading this record are far-reaching indeed.

PRINCIPLES OF HOME DECORATION

By CANDACE WHEELER

Undoubtedly a helpful book to decorators, whose opportunities of study of decoration as an art, color as a science, and with reference to light and situation, have been necessarily limited, but its chief field will be among the thousands of home-seekers whose range of experiment has not been wide enough to warrant successful practice.

Price, Net, $1.80.

HAND IN HAND

A volume of verse by a mother and her daughter. A book of rare delicacy and charm, which will be of interest to all lovers of home life gracefully interpreted in literature.

Harper's March Books

Putnam Place By GRACE LATHROP COLLIN

The story of a small town. "Putnam Place" is a neighborhood where the dwellers are intimately acquainted and live in a rather exclusive circle. Everybody knows every one else, and the small happenings of the town become significant in the writer's skilful hands. The author shows that she knows well the new section which she has exploited.

The Substitute By WILL N. HARBEN Author of "Abner Daniel"

A story of Northern Georgia— of a man who loves a woman far above him socially. He finally wins her by his own character and ability. George Buckley's father having been convicted and imprisoned for theft, the boy is adopted by a well-to-do merchant and sent to college. George is heartbroken at his father's disgrace and abandons himself to drink. His reclamation is brought about, and he falls in love with Lydia Cranston, whom Governor Telfair wishes to marry. The denouement which follows is strongly told. There are many interesting minor characters: Mrs. Hillyer who calls a spade a spade, and Bascom Truitt, an ex-Confederate soldier and stanch friend to Buckley. Although Mr. Harben attained a great measure of success in "Westerfelt" and "Abner Daniel," in this new book he has done the best work of his career.

TWO RECENT NOVELS BY WILL N. HARBEN

Westerfelt

A Georgian love story, strong in plot and dramatic in action. Young Westerfelt is a type true to the section.

$1.50

Abner Daniel

A character study not unlike "David Harum," and introducing a humorous, shrewd Georgian and his friends.

The Golden Rapids of High Life

A NOVEL

By Col. RICHARD HENRY SAVAGEAuthor of "My Official Wife," etc.*

NOTHING exceeds the glitter of our modern social whirl! The United States are rapidly reaching the Augustan age of Rome, where that which was "mud and brick" was replaced by "gold and marble!" The diplomatic and social life of America has its swirling rapids of Golden High Life in which the strong swimmer goes down, without a last bubbling cry. This intense novel portrays the theatre of the over-nervous social life of to-day, the heartless yet intelligent circle, which is a warning of some grave disaster yet to come! The thrilling epochs of the last four years are herein depicted by a master-hand. There are currents and counter currents in our national and municipal life which are not discerned save by those who are admitted to the inner circles.

The secrets of the last few years are frankly unveiled. We can see where the "Ship of State" has lumbered along past reefs, bars and rocks, any one of which would have caused a national disaster had the worst come to the worst. There is a lively human interest, a deep sincerity, and a prophetic patriotism in every page of this brilliant story, in which love and adventure, statecraft and pride, are mingled with a dexterous touch.

PUBLISHERS are gradually realizing the importance of two vital facts, especially when contemplating having large editions bound.

FIRST—To have their books bound in the best possible manner.

SECOND—To save enough money thereon as will guarantee an enormous annual extra dividend.

You are certainly not averse to making money. Ask me to submit samples and estimates. You will then follow the lead of some of the best publishing houses who find it profitable to give me their work.
